CAMP of CHAMPS

Series

CARY KOLAT is hands down one of the best and most sought after technicians in the Nation. He is a 4x Pennsylvania State Champ posting a record of 137-0 in his High School career. In college he won 2 NCAA Championships and placed second and third, with an overall record of 111-7. Internationally, Kolat participated in 13 events for the USA, including placing 9th at the 2000 Olympics. He placed 2nd, 3rd and 4th at the World Championships from 1997-1999, won three World Cup Gold's from 1998-2000, and placed 2nd in 2001. He won titles at the 1998 Goodwill Games, the '99 Pan American Games and the 2000 Pan Am Championships. Back in 1989, Kolat was named Most Outstanding Wrestler at the Cadet World Championships.

Cary just recently announced he will be returning to UNC, where he was once an assistant coach. He will now act as Director of Wrestling Operations. Kolat will also be the director and head coach of the North Carolina Olympic Training Center based in Chapel Hill.

CARLTON HASELRIG

won NCAA heavyweight championships in both Division 1 and Division 2 from 1987 through 1989 wrestling for the University of Pittsburgh-Johnstown, becoming the only man ever to win six titles. During his college career, he won 143 matches while losing only 2 and tying 1.

Though he hadn't played football in college, Haselrig was chosen by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the twelfth round of the 1989 NFL draft. He spent a season on the team's developmental squad and was on the regular roster as a nose tackle in 1990.

The 6-foot-1 Haselrig wrestled at 275 pounds and increased that to 290 as a pro football player. The Steelers moved him to offensive guard in 1991 and he was chosen to play in the 1992 Pro Bowl.

Member of the National Wrestling Hall of Fame

JEFF BLATNICK

Olympic Gold Medalist & Motivational Speaker, is a 2-time NCAA Division II Champion and an Olympic Gold Medalist. Jeff served as a commentator for The Ultimate Fighting Championship (UFC) from 1994-2001, where he helped develop the modern rules for the sport and coined the term "Mixed Martial Arts" (MMA). He has also served as a commentator for the Olympics. Jeff has overcome Hodgkin's disease twice, once before his Gold Medal performance, and again one year later.

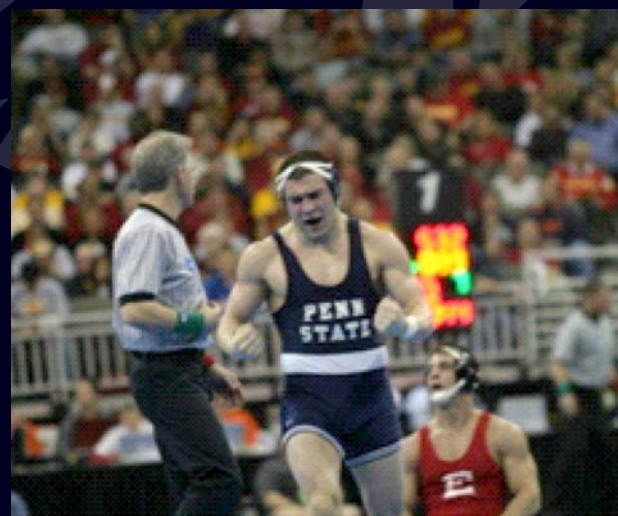

"Today, Blatnick is one of the premier motivational speakers in the country. His personalized presentation is, simply, first rate. Jeff's enthusiasm, sincerity, and love of life have kept him focused on a single purpose: overcoming adversity. Using personal experiences, Jeff guides people through the different perspectives we commonly formulate when facing challenges or adversity. Perception influences our attitude, our performance and our ability to set goals."
